Skill Level Chart

0.

This is my first-time skiing or snowboarding.

1.

Skiers: I can move forward on flat terrain, climb and glide on slight inclines with my skis in a wedge.

Snowboarders: I can skate on flat terrain, make toe and heel side j-turns on slight inclines with front foot strapped in.

2.

Skiers: I can skate on flat terrain. On easy green terrain, I am able to change wedge size while gliding, make shallow turns to J-turns and stop.

Snowboarders: I can perform skidded traverses and C-turns in both directions with both feet strapped in.

3.

Skiers: I link wedge turns with speed control on green terrain, can stop and use the rope-tow and/or chairlift.

Snowboarders: I can perform C-turns in both directions with speed control, am working on linking S-turns and learning to use the chairlift.

4.

Skiers: I control speed on green and easy blue terrain. Skis begin with a wedge but align to parallel towards the end of the turn.

Snowboarders: I am linking skidded S-turns with speed control and shape on green and blue terrain.

5.

Skiers: On blue terrain my skis are parallel in turns more frequently than a wedge. Seeking more challenging terrain.

Snowboarders: I am beginning to carve turns, varying turn radius and evolving from a stacked to more dynamic turn along and seeking more challenging terrain.

6. Skiers: I am confident on all terrain in good conditions, my skis remain parallel throughout the entire turn, I am beginning to use my poles. I am seeking more challenging terrain including steeps, glades, bumps and varying conditions.

Snowboarders: I am confident on all terrain in good conditions. I am fine-tuning carved turns and am seeking more challenging terrain including steeps, glades, bumps and varying conditions.
